REPUBLICANISM IN FRANCE

The Count de Chambord is convalescing, and all the carefully prepared obituaries made ready for appearance on receipt of the news of his death, predicted by the doctors so confidently, must be laid aside for a more convenient day, says the Record-Union. Meanwhile the one-time imminence of his departure from the world, and all the political commotion it occasioned, does not seem to have affected the infant Republic, except to increase the confidence its friends repose in it. The death of Gambetta, the conviction of the Anarchists, the manifesto of Prince Napoleon, the tripartite alliance of Germany, Austria and Italy, the punishment of Louise Michel, the trouble with Madagascar, the difficulty with Tongkin, the nearness of the Count de Paris to empty royal honors—all these were events upon which those who have doubted the stability of the Republic have enlarged as indicating a crisis in which the experiment of freedom must fail. But the Republic in France still lives, and thrives and prospers amazingly. The more it is threatened the stronger it grows. The wars of the Legitimists, Orleanists, Bourbons, the Church and the European Cabinets, do not seem to have even left the smell of fire upon the garments of the Government. France, indeed, to-day presents an example of prosperity, industry and content not surpassed in Europe, and despite the seething of the masses in the political cauldron in Paris, the people at large are well to do, content to labor, intent upon peace, and not at all disposed to try the experiment of a new form of government, or to invite the assaults of powerful neighbors.

POLITICAL MANIPULATIONS

The New York Times charges that the southern States are being worked by Republican politicians to cast a solid vote in the next convention, and sounds this note of warning: "It is time that the policy of keeping the party small and weak in nearly half the States—States which cast more than one-third of the electoral votes—were abandoned. The nomination of a President by the Republican party is no longer equivalent to an election. A nomination secured by working these States as rotten boroughs for purposes of representation in a national convention, will be in imminent danger of being followed by an electoral defeat. If it is true that President Arthur is working by means of Federal appointments in the south to secure 300 delegates in the convention, and thereby a renomination, he is working against the best interests of the party, and probably for its disastrous overthrow at the next Presidential election."

The Iowa Democrats came out flat-footed for free trade. Their platform is the only one adopted this year which does not dodge the tariff, says the Bodie Free Press. They have invited a number of prominent men in the party to aid them in the canvass and a belief is expressed that most of them will accept. Among them are Governor Glick, of Kansas; McDonald and Hendricks of Indiana and Springer of Illinois. It will be interesting to note how McDonald will manage to balance himself on the tariff plank of the platform in case he really does take part in the Iowa canvass. But as for Springer, his remarks will excite nothing but ridicule now that he has run away from a tariff debate at his own home.

The play at the theater, where so many people saved their lives by attending, at Casamicola, Italy, was a burlesque one, the opening scene being an earthquake.

Two-thirds of the striking clock-makers in New York returned to work to-day, leaving about 200 men and girls now on the strike.

EASTERN DISPATCHES

(PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

Cutting the Wires.
 New York, July 31.

The officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company state that 25 wires have been either cut or connected with fine wire, so as to be for the time useless, between New York and Newark, N. J., and Hackensack Meadows. They state also that 13 wires have been cut between New York and Williams Bridge, and 12 between the latter place and Searsville, and that all wires of the Ft. Wayne railroad, near Englewood, Illinois, have also been cut. Two more of the striking operators have returned to work. The men at St. Johns, who went out, have all returned. The strikers at Halifax applied to be reinstated, but found their places filled. At the headquarters of the strikers to-day, it was denied that the wires had been cut by the striking linemen. If the wires had been cut by them, the Brotherhood would order them repaired free of cost to the company.

A Desperate Fight With Outlaws.
 Hot Springs, Ark., July 31.

The officers pursuing the Montgomery, Yell and Garland county outlaws, on Sunday came up with the Daniels brothers and band in the mountains in Berry county, on the head waters of the Faurche river. The fugitives were in a stronghold, and a desperate battle ensued. Two of the pursuers, Shelton and Caldwell of Garland county, and Charles Carter Dardere were killed, Barnes Dardere wounded, and one of the bloodhounds killed. The pursuers had been drawn into a fastness which the desperadoes had fortified with stones, and were ambushed. The desperadoes escaped without injury, though it is reported that one of them, Rial Blocker of Garden county, surrendered to the Sheriff, Nicholas Garland. The strength of the outlaws is unknown.

Did Not Agree.
 Baltimore, July 31.

A meeting of the Corn and Flour Exchange was called at noon to-day at the request of a number of members, who complained that the telegraph service on flour was insufficient. A committee was appointed, which reported resolutions calling upon the Directors of the Western Union and Baltimore & Ohio Companies for better service, declaring that the members were subjected to loss because of the defects of the service. The resolutions were laid on the table by a vote of 49 to 38. A member of the Exchange stated that the committee had nothing to do with the difficulties between the telegraph companies and their employees.

A New Play.
 Chicago, July 30.

"A Mountain Pink," a new five-act comedy, drawn by Elyvyn A. Barron, dramatic editor of the Inter-Ocean, and Morgan Bates of this city, was produced for the first time in this city, and was a decided success. Miss Louise Sylvester played the title part with great acceptance, and the other characters were well received. The scene is laid among the "Moonshiners" of North Carolina, and introduces a new and piquant phase of American life to the stage.

Somewhat Denunciatory.
 Cleveland, July 30.

A mass meeting in the interests of the striking telegraph operators at Monumental Park, Hon. N. A. Foran, Congressman-elect, presided and made a speech, in which he denounced the associated press as an ally of the Western Union, and told the strikers that when they fought one they fought the other. Judge J. K. Hurd, Judge G. B. Soldiers, Thomas Reilly and W. S. Kierish also spoke.

Another Syndicate.
 Pittsburg, July 31.

A syndicate composed of prominent Pittsburg and New York capitalists, including W. K. Vanderbilt, has been formed for the purpose of obtaining control of the coke productions of the Connelville region. The object is to establish an arbitrary setting rate for coke, also to divert the business of that region to Vanderbilt's lines. A large portion of the valuable coke property has already been secured.

Trouble Anticipated.
 Winnipeg, Manitoba, July 30.

The special policemen sent to Rat Portage have determined to arrest all Ontario specials, and serious fighting is anticipated. A Winnipeg field battery and the Winnipeg cavalry are ordered to be in readiness to go to Rat Portage to assist the Manitoba specials.

An English surgeon died of cholera at Alexandria yesterday.

There were 4,000 people killed by the recent earthquake in Italy. Subscriptions have been opened throughout the kingdom for the relief of the sufferers.

A general court-martial has been ordered to meet at Fort Vancouver August 30th, for the trial of Samuel C. Robertson, charged with duplicating his accounts.

The Inter-State Shooters—Found in the Bay—A Probable Suicide—Sues for Damages.
 SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.

Adjutant-General Crosby has approved the reconstructed California team, which goes to Nevada in September to shoot for the Inter-State trophy.

Hugh Gogan, a cart driver, aged 55, was found struggling in the bay yesterday afternoon, and was removed to the hospital. He died during the evening. No information was obtained as to whether it was accidental or suicidal.

A mystery, involving the fate of a woman and child, occurred at the Presidio Wednesday last. A woman, accompanied by a little girl, was observed to disrobe herself and child and proceed toward the bay only a few hundred feet distant, and nothing was afterwards seen of either. The clothing of the woman showed the name of Maria Gotto.

Catherine Ahern, sister of John Ahern, who was killed by a falling flagstaff on the 29th ult., sues John McGeary, Thomas Adam and Millard Kibbe for $100,000. The defendants were engaged in removing the flagstaff from a building and allowed it to fall, with the fatal result mentioned.

Dissatisfied Prints.
 SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.

Last night 35 compositors, members of the Typographical Union in this city, employed on the Call, struck on the refusal of their demand to have all non-union printers discharged and union men substituted. The hour selected for making the demand was so late that the Union believed it impossible for the Call to find printers to set up the matter for to-day's issue. The Call managed to get a full complement of compositors; many old employees volunteered their services on hearing of the difficulty—many among them being women, who cheerfully worked until past midnight. The Bulletin compositors are expected to go out to-day.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

(PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

The Notorious Informer, James Carey, Killed.
 LONDON, July 30.

Intelligence has just been received here that James Carey, the informer in the Phoenix Park murder cases, was shot dead yesterday on the steamship Melrose, while she was between Capetown and Port Elizabeth. The deed was committed by a fellow passenger named O'Donnell.

Later advice about the killing of James Carey show that he was shot while walking from the Melrose, at Port Elizabeth. O'Donnell, his slayer, is in custody. The Government had taken special and expensive measures to protect Carey.

O'Donnell took passage here by the steamship Kinfau's Castle, which left Dartmouth on the 6th for Capetown, where she transferred her passengers, who were destined to Port Elizabeth, Natal and other coast ports, to the steamship Melrose. The report of the shooting of Carey caused intense excitement in the West End of London and in the House of Commons.

More of the Earthquake.
 NAPLES, July 31.

The search of the ruins for the bodies of the victims of the earthquake at Ischia, was continued during the night. All the bodies recovered were buried to prevent miasma. An eyewitness describes the scene at Casamicola, where the earthquake occurred, as a awful one. At the theatre the curtain had just risen when a shock was felt; a fearful roar followed, and the ground rocked like a ship in a storm. A great cry of terror arose from the audience, who were thrown into a heap, and large numbers were buried beneath the timbers of the building which fell in on them. Two more shocks occurred. All who could rushed out of the theater and hundreds clambered into trees in the vicinity for safety. Most of the people, however, escaped to the shore, where bonfires were lighted as signals of distress. Hundreds of half naked men and women, wild with terror and grief, ran to and fro among the ruins with torches searching for missing friends.

The Killing of Carey.
 LONDON, July 31.

O'Donnell, who shot Carey, was accompanied from England by his wife, who appeared to be on intimate terms with Carey, criminally, during the voyage. The Times pronounces the death of Carey as a public misfortune. The murder is calculated to encourage a daring and lawless spirit to commit violence. The joy caused in Ireland by the informer's death is proof that many elements of danger still exist there.

A London Standard correspondent writing from Cairo, anticipates heavy death returns from Alexandria soon.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES

—Father Patrick, acting Chaplain of the British force at Cairo, has died of cholera.

—The Spanish authorities deny that the Spanish Minister to Mexico is to be recalled.

—The number of deaths from cholera at Cairo yesterday was 275 and two at Alexandria.

—The 2,000 soldiers digging among the ruins at Ischia, saved 1,000 lives up to midday on Sunday, and 24 on Monday.

—It is reported that an infernal machine was found among O'Donnell's effects after his arrest for killing Carey.

—The report of a disaster to an excursion party in Colorado is discredited by the officers of the Denver & Rio Grand in Chicago.

—The only American known to have been injured by the earthquake in Italy, was a Miss Van Allen, and she was only slightly hurt.

—The London Telegraph says there is but little doubt but that James Carey was dropped from Dublin by O'Donnell, the Fenians having taken elaborate measures to prevent his escape.

Eleven bars of bullion from Mt. Diablo mine were sent below this morning.

Whip brooms at Nasby's. Thermometer at 7, 9, 11, 1, 3-70, 75, 79, 82, 88.

Five cars of emigrants, many of whom were apparently well-to-do, passed west this morning.

A large number of cottages will be built at Lake Tahoe next season by wealthy Californians.

Those "Summer and Winter" refrigerator cans, belonging to the Union Pacific are as large as a medium-sized hotel.

California cantelopes and green corn are arriving per Wells-Fargo's express. Get the paragonic bottle replenished.

P. J. Toll will shortly remove his furniture store to the corner of Second and Virginia streets. He has gone below to lay in a stock of new furniture.

The little son of John Sunderland, who was thought to be so near to death's door last evening, is reported better this morning, with chances favorable for recovery.

A family of genuine opossums, in charge of an emigrant from Tennessee, caused some interest at the depot this morning, especially among people who were reared in the South. The old mother opossum carried nearly a dozen young in her pouch.

THE BEEF MARKET.

A Belief That the Days of Cheap Beef Are of the Past.

The San Francisco Call of last Sunday says: An eastern paper expresses the belief that the days of cheap beef have gone by. The principal reason for this belief is the fact that the best grazing lands of the West are occupied to such an extent that the area cannot expand in proportion to the increase of population. The farmers who raise grain have also begun to crowd upon the ranchmen who raise cattle. As cheap beef depends mainly upon free feed for growing cattle, it must follow that as land is wanted for agricultural purposes there will be less for the ranchmen to use free of cost, and consequently an increased expense in raising cattle. The rapid increase in population in the United States, resulting as it must in an advance in the price of what are now cheap lands, will soon solve the food problem as it presents itself to Europe. While we shall continue to export grain and provisions for years to come, the increased home demand will reduce our surplus for export. The growth of our manufacturing interests, affording occupation to so large a portion of our people in other pursuits than agriculture, insures the permanence of the home market.

A Shooting Affray.

A shooting affray took place at Johnstown, Plumas county, Cal., on Sunday morning last, the particulars of which appear to be as follows: An inebriated Cornishman who had conceived a dislike for one William Creighton, followed him up, and threatened violence at every turn. Creighton, wishing to avoid trouble with him while drunk, went away from him into the Durand Hotel, whither the Cornishman followed him, swearing that he would see if he could get a fight out of him, and at the same time striking Creighton, who pulled a pistol and shot his assailant in the left breast, just below the ribs, inflicting a dangerous wound. Creighton also fired another shot into the Cornishman's face. The wounded man was alive at last accounts. Public sympathy is with Creighton.

Better than Caramels.

On a beautiful starry night, it is a noble thing to be a woman and have a gorgeous lover, always handsome and always true, ready to protect, worship, and pay for caramels and ice cream. But there is something still better than this. A man may be sincere, devoted, handsome, intellectual, and full of the exalting fire that once kindled, burns forever in a woman's heart, and yet fail to fill her cup with happiness to the golden brim. He may have every grace and every virtue, and still neglect to buy her tickets for Callender's refined minstrels. They will appear at the Nevada Theater on Wednesday evening, August 8, 1906. Box sheet now open. Popular prices.

O'Leary Again Beaten.

Daniel O'Leary has suffered a second defeat in Australia. In the six-day walk with William Edwards, at Sydney, O'Leary was beaten by seven miles, the score standing 480 to 450. This is the second time Edwards has beaten the champion, but as the attendance at both contests was large, the latter doubtless obtained a good sum of money.

The Caledonian Picnic.

The Virginia Caledonian Club will hold their eighth annual picnic at Treadway's Park, Carson, Saturday, August 4th. Prices for the usual games have been offered, and every arrangement for a jolly good time has been completed. The fare has been put down to one dollar for the round trip, including admission to the grounds. Go and have a good time.

TWO GOVERNORS.

What Governor Eli B. Murray Says About Utah Politics—Governor Crittenden on Democratic Possibilities.

A GAZETTE reporter met Governor Eli B. Murray of Utah at the Depot Hotel this morning, and in the brief time that could be spared between the cordial hand-shakes, drew from him the following: "We are making no effort," said Governor Murray, "to carry any of the elections this year, the officers to be elected are all local, and our attempts would undoubtedly prove of no avail."

"How do the commission stand with the people of Utah?" enquired the reporter. "Please do not press me for an answer to that, the local press there give a good general idea of their status. Being a Government official myself, I dislike to criticize their acts. I will say, however, that the gentle population are disappointed."

"Will the Legislature be likely to pass any laws upon the subject of Polygamy?" "There is hardly a possibility of such an event. The fact is, those people do not consider polygamy as distinct from their religion, and they would be no more likely to legislate against that than they would against any other tenet of their faith."

Through the courtesy of Governor Murray the reporter was introduced to Governor Crittenden of Missouri, who, in answer to a question touching Democratic possibilities in the next Presidential campaign, spoke as follows: "Mr. Tilden is unquestionably the strongest man in his party to-day. He has much to recommend him to consideration. He has been a faithful and ardent worker in the party for many years and, being a man of broad, liberal views on all national questions, is peculiarly fitted for the important trust the people of this nation once voted to his keeping. His age has been often spoken of as a great objection, but his mind is as clear, vigorous and comprehensive as ever, and should be selected as the Democratic standard bearer he will make one of the best Presidents who ever occupied the chair."

"What do you think, Governor Crittenden, will be the result of the next campaign?" asked the reporter. "The Democratic party proposes to nominate a man of unquestioned ability and integrity, whoever he may be, and success is sure to crown our efforts. We have been kept in the background of national politics until the acts of the party in power demand that a change shall be made, and it is sure to come."

THE A. O. U. W.

Special Session of the Grand Lodge Called for Aug. 3d.

The Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. for this jurisdiction has been called to meet in special session at Gold Hill on Friday August 3d at 12 o'clock noon. The object of this meeting is to pass a resolution authorizing the Grand Master Workman and Grand Recorder to petition the Supreme Master Workman to set this jurisdiction aside as a separate beneficiary jurisdiction when the membership shall have reached 2,000. This action is rendered necessary under the laws of the order, for although the Legislature of the Grand Lodge at its last two sessions was in favor of the separation and most extraordinary means were adopted to bring about the result, yet from a careful examination of the proceedings the Grand Master Workman has discovered that the formal vote authorizing him to petition the Supreme Lodge is wanting. Under the Constitution twenty delegates, representing six different lodges, constitute a quorum of the Grand Lodge, hence if the delegates from No. 2 of Gold Hill; No. 3 of Virginia; No. 4 of Carson; Nos. 5 and 20 of Reno; No. 6 of Dayton; No. 8 of Suto; No. 12 of Mason Valley; No. 16 of Silver City and No. 21 of Verdi attend, a legal meeting can be held without the expense and trouble of calling in delegates from the eastern part of Nevada, Montana, Utah or Wyoming. Delegates elected at the last session of the Grand Lodge were elected for a year and they are therefore entitled to represent their lodge at the special session.

Death to Insects.

Carbolic acid is sure destruction to all insect life, and, if used with judgment, is not detrimental. To use it cheaply, make a strong solution of soap and water, and to each gallon of water add a tablespoonful of carbolic acid. This preparation not only keeps insects from trees and plants when applied, but is also serviceable in poultry houses, stables, pig sties and all other places that need protection against vermin, for even rats will get out of the way if poured into their holes.

An Unhealthy Practice.

We have frequently noticed the habit of many children, and in some instances, grown people, of laying upon the lawn grass in front of their residences, which within 24 hours had been flooded with water. During this hot weather the ground dries very quickly, while a half an inch from the surface it is soaking wet. Several cases of sickness have doubtless been recently caused from this careless habit.

Sultry Arizona.

The Yuma Sentinel says: On June 24th the thermometer was 122° at El Dorado canyon, in the coolest place that could be found. At Fort Mohave it was 120°.

Dr. J. S. Smart, formerly of Carson, is reported as enjoying a lucrative practice in Seattle. The rest of the family will soon join him.

E. Bryan, Edward McCormick and William Johnson, left this morning to go to work upon the mine of A. Ludley & Co. near White Plains.

G. W. Meylert, the stage man, came in from Plumas county last evening, leaving Reno on to-day's stage for his home at Janesville, Lassen county.

The Misses Lillian and Lena Sweetman left this morning for Napa. They will attend the Napa college for a term. Miss Onie Gould also departed on the same train, with the same object in view.

William T. Barnett left this morning for Downsville in Nye county, to take an account of stock of a quartz mill, mine and merchandise at that place, in which M. Raphael, an insolvent, was interested.

Governor Crittenden of Missouri passed west this morning in a special car. He was accompanied by Governor Murray of Utah, and several other notables. Governor Crittenden will spend a couple of weeks visiting places of interest on this coast. H. H. Baneroff, the historian, is in town to-day. He is well-pleased with his visit to this State, and expresses great confidence in Nevada's future, and thinks good times and prosperity will come to us before we know it, and that the improvement will be healthy and permanent.

A COOLING PROCESS.

How Fresh Meats are Frozen Preparatory to an Ocean Trip.

A Sydney (N. S. W.) paper says: At the head of Darling Harbor the Orange Frozen Meat Company has a hulk fitted up with appliances for the freezing and storage of meat preparatory to its dispatch by the Orient steamers to London. The lower hold has been converted into a freezing chamber, and here can be stowed about 4,500 carcasses of mutton or 500 of beef. Arrangements are being made for the formation of a second chamber between decks, and it is estimated that the hulk will then have accommodation for 10,000 sheep or 1,000 bullocks.

One of the first points which strikes the observer in looking over the works is the absence of ice or ice-making appliances, the system adopted being what is known as the dry air process. A quantity of air is taken into a cylinder, and by means of a 20-horse power engine subjected to a pressure of 50 pounds to the square inch, which raises the temperature to about 300 degs. F. The compressed air passes through a set of coolers similar to those used on surface condensers on board steamships, and by means of a constant stream of water it is cooled down almost to its original temperature. It then enters another cylinder, where it is permitted to expand, and in doing so the temperature falls to about 40 degs. below zero, or 72 degs. below freezing point. The whole operation only occupies a few seconds.

Keeping the Wolf From the Door.

There was shipped through this city a couple of days ago, en route to the Mint, says the Nevada Transcript, $30,000 worth of bullion from the Ral. bow, $5,000 worth from the Ruby, and about $3,800 from the Bald Mountain Extension. Among them from the Ruby was a $300 nugget that looked as if it had been made in a blent mould.

A NEW COAL FIELD.

What a Correspondent Saw in the Gunnison Country.

A correspondent of the Chicago Mining Review, writing from Gunnison, Colorado, contributes the following concerning the coal fields of that country. The first "camp" at which I called was Crested Butte, a town of 1,300 inhabitants, situated at the terminus of the branch of the Denver and Rio Grande railway, connecting it with the town of Gunnison, some 80 miles to the south. Crested Butte may unquestionably be named the Coal Town of the Gunnison country, as its present, as well as future, depends almost entirely upon the development of the extensive bituminous and anthracite coal field by which it is surrounded.

About one mile to the west of the town the Colorado Coal and Iron Company are now mining coal on quite a large scale, taking it to the town, where it is burned into coke. In prosecuting this work they now have 50 men employed and 50 coke ovens in operation, the affairs of the company at this place are under the management of J. K. Robinson. To the north of the town, and within a distance of five miles, there are immense anthracite coal beds, which are being steadily and gradually developed by the "Mesa Mining Company," under the management of Howard F. Smith, who has already expended large sums in development, as also in the erection of a number of buildings, and a breaker. This company is now competing for the trade in the States and Territories west of Colorado. Their coal is a No. 1 article, and commands a high price.

THE CASTOR BEAN.

The Castor Oil Plant as a Fly Extirminator.

Observations made by M. Ragord, a member of the Society of Horticulture at Limoges, show that a castor-oil plant having been placed in a room infested with flies, they disappear as by enchantment. Willing to find the cause he soon found under the castor-oil plant a number of dead flies, and a large number of bodies had remained clinging to the under surface of the leaves. It would therefore appear that the leaves of this plant give out an essential oil, or some toxic principle which possesses very strong insecticide qualities. Castor-oil plants are in France very much used as ornamental plants in rooms, as they resist very well variations of atmosphere and temperature. As the castor-oil plant is very much grown and cultivated in all gardens, a Paris journal points out that it would be worth while to try decoctions of the leaves to destroy the green flies and other insects that in summer are so destructive to plants and fruit trees. Anyhow, M. Ragord's observations merit that trial should be made of the properties of the castor-oil plant, both for the destruction of flies in dwellings and of other troublesome insects.

Infatuated Freddy.

Gebhardt has $80,000 a year, but his income for several years has been mortgaged in consequence of his extravagances this season. Mrs. Langtry boasts that she has not put out a shilling in her travels. She has received $200,000 worth of jewelry from Gebhardt, who bought her a necklace for $25,000, bracelets of alternate sapphires and diamonds for $17,000, rings enough to cover every generously built finger on the Lily's hands, besides butterflies, stars, horseshoes and crescents, to stick all over her bust, and form a diadem to her hair. In spite of all this, it is said she is about to throw him overboard.

The Tables Turned.

Daniel Tomlin, referred to in last evening's GAZETTE as being clothed in the garb of a priest, was arrested yesterday on the complaint of James Sullivan. The charge being that the Rev. Father was a wolf in sheep's clothing, soliciting alms and obtaining money under false pretenses. The accused was taken before Judge Young for examination, Sullivan appearing for the prosecution. The counsel, becoming enthused with his subject, used language unbecoming, and, the Court thought, contemptuous, whereupon he offered him to jail for contempt. After an incarceration of an hour or two he was liberated, and ordered to appear this morning. The hilarious priest was allowed to depart on his own recognizance, with instructions to appear this morning at 10 o'clock for trial. The priest was discharged.

DANGEROUS TRASH.

Something Which Should be Discouraged.

The Greenville Bulletin, of Plumas county, California, contains the following sensible remarks concerning the broadcast distribution of worse than worthless trash called literature, which is being hawked about the country: The rudimentary of the book-peddler is a great bore; but the annoyance can be borne with some degree of patience when he offers good books. The evil is intolerable when the persistent pest comes loaded down with utterly worthless trash.

It Pays.

To a farmer the idea of currying a cow, miffed or otherwise, says the Greenville Bulletin, is an absurdity; but to dairymen who have highly bred cows and take a pride in their business, and get the top price of the market for their produce, it is a matter of moment, in that it has been known to increase the milk flow and butter produce by ten to twenty per cent.
